

An Epic Friendship

MARRIAGE IN MOTION ▶ Module 3: An Epic Friendship

3.4

MODULE 3, LESSON 4

SUMMARY

---

- Epic friendships require a commitment to moving.
- Epic friendships are built by learning to speak one another's languages. Gary Chapman's Five Love Languages represent primary ways we may prefer to give and receive love. The five love languages are: gifts, quality time, words of affirmation, acts of service and physical touch.
- Epic friendships have the ability to play. In the words of Tim Urban, "when you choose a life partner, you're choosing a lot of things, including your parenting partner and someone who will deeply influence your children, your eating companion for about 20,000 meals, your travel companion for about 100 vacations, your primary leisure time and retirement friend, your career therapist, and someone whose day you'll hear about 18,000 times."
- Epic friendships have a positive perspective of their partner and their relationship.
- A marriage cannot thrive without a strong sense of mutual appreciation and regard between both partners.

You can have intimacy in your marriage only when you are honest with your partner about things that are significant to you. Intimacy occurs when you allow yourself to be truly seen by your partner, the good, the bad and the ugly.

A successful marriage requires falling in love, many times, always with the same person.

ACTIVITIES

---

Module 3 has been focused on the importance of the marital friendship. In order to build and achieve epic friendship, it is paramount that you understand and speak your partner's love language.

Want to build an epic friendship? First, never quit. Two, speak your partner's love language. This test will get you started. The rest is up to you!

1 THE FIVE LOVE LANGUAGES

The 5 Love Languages® self test will give you a thorough analysis of your emotional communication preference. It will single out your primary love language, what it means, and how you can use it to connect with your loved one with intimacy and fulfillment.

On the following pages are 30 paired statements. Please select the statement that best defines what is most meaningful to you in your relationship as a couple. Both statements may or may not sound like they fit your situation, but please choose the statement that captures the essence of what is (or would be) most meaningful to you, the majority of the time.

Allow 10 minutes to complete the self test. Once completed, tally your score to find out what your Top 2 emotional communication preferences (love languages) are and share them with your partner.
